Dear Dr. Li,

Thank you for your interest in attending the RNA 2015 conference which will take place on campus at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Wisconsin from May 26 to 31, 2015. We hereby invite you to present your work at the conference. The program presentation schedule will not be announced until the week before the meeting; therefore we encourage you to arrange your travel such that you will attend the entire five days of the conference. The aim of this meeting is to facilitate sharing of experimental results and emerging concepts in RNA (ribonucleic acid) research.

RNA 2015 is hosted by the non-profit RNA Society, an academic association of research scientists specializing in all aspects of RNA research. This will be a multidisciplinary conference addressing questions about the structure and function of RNA and ribonucleoprotein assemblies which arise in diverse areas of research including molecular, evolutionary and structural biology; biochemistry, chemistry, genetics, and virology; and biomedical sciences. Additional information about the conference and related activities can be found on the conference website listed at the bottom of this page.

You are responsible for the full payment of your registration fees, ranging from $650 to $925 USD depending on your membership status with the RNA Society. You are expected to arrange and fund your own travel and lodging as well.

Please feel free to use this letter to support your application for grant funding or a visa to enter the United States, and if there is anything else you need please do not hesitate to contact me by phone or email. We will be pleased to welcome you to this excellent international gathering of RNA scientists, and we look forward to seeing you in Madison in May.

Sincerely,

Mary McCann, Conference Manager

on behalf of the Organizing Committee for RNA 2015:
David Brow, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Matthias Hentze, EMBL
Amy Pasquinelli, University of California – San Diego
Anna Pyle, Yale University
