Dear Professor Yang,

The 9th International Mesosstructured Materials Symposium (IMMS-9) will take place at the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre (BCEC) in the period of 17 – 20 August 2015. The IMMS-9 aims to facilitate discussion on progress and perspectives, fundamental challenges for synthesis chemistry, and industrial applications of mesostructured materials.

The conference will feature outstanding plenary and keynote speakers with international reputations, as well as a poster session and industrial sponsors' exhibition. We anticipate approximately 350 participants, 200 posters and about 10 exhibitors. We trust the IMMS-9 will be of great interest to researchers working in the area of synthesis and characterisation; energy applications; biomedical and biomedicine applications; catalytic applications; environmental applications; separation and purification and other nanoporous materials and applications.

For more information, please refer to the conference website: www.imms9.org.

As IMMS-9 Executive Chair I take great pleasure in extending a formal invitation, on behalf of the conference organising committee, to you to give a Keynote Presentation of 30 minutes at the Symposium, including 5 minutes Q&A. We are able to offer a $1,000 honorarium and a registration waiver, and but as this is a non-for-profit conference, we are unable to offer further financial assistance.

If you require further information, or have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Ms Petrina Gilmore p.gilmore@uq.edu.au, Professor George Zhao george.zhao@uq.edu.au or Megan Hausler on info@imms9.org.

My colleagues and I look forward to receiving your response and very much hope that you will be able to accept this invitation.

Yours sincerely,

Professor G Q (Max) Lu
Executive Chair of IMMS-9
